This year on July 10th to 12th, there are 22 youth and their chaperons from our diocese going to Halifax to participate. From the Tri-Parish, there are four of us going. Fr. Moses Coady and the Sisters of St Martha's Go to the Keppoch

The Ships of 1801 have presented original concerts for the past twelve years. All shows have featured historical themes that are important to Northern Nova Scotia including Cape Breton. This year we tell the story of a day in the life of Fr Moses Coady and two Sisters from St. Martha's as they travel to a small rural community with the intention of helping the people improve their lives through promoting co-operative action and adult education. The show features original and tradition music and dance along with realistic and humorous dialogue. The cast is composed of some thirty individuals ranging in age from 7 to 85. Shows on 2 July to 5 July at Schwartz Auditorium and 7 July in Mabou.
